A Foodborne Viruses Research Conference was held by the FSA on 15th and 16th January 2013. The purpose of the conference was to increase participants' understanding of norovirus and other foodborne viruses, namely hepatitis A and E, in the food chain. Also to identify the research priorities that needed to be addressed by the Agency or in partnership with industry/other funders to underpin measures to control viruses in the food chain.

The proceedings of the conference have been published and are provided for Members' information.
